

Re.: Docket No. 02-277, The Biennial Review of the FCC's broadcast media ownership rules. So how does merging of media improve our media? Proponents of the changes say they will streamline their operations. But streamlining suggests fewer news sources, fewer editors, fewer decision-makers - meaning less diversity. And what good are so many channels of information if all the information is very much the same? Cloning news sources is not creating more news sources. Our very democracy is founded on our access to truth - obtained by hearing all points of views.